

JOEL SENSENIG / the Review Times

Digging in

The jaws of an excavator overlook a Crescent Street site where two brick houses were recently torn down by a Posey Excavating crew, as part of an ongoing, $200,000 renovation project of the street. Fostoria Area Habitat for Humanity purchased the homes near the beginning of the year and began tearing down the first houses in July. There are two more houses that have been emptied and are next in line to be demolished.